AdbA-Art Deco Buenos Aires Argentina, member of the International Coalition of Art Deco Societies (ICADS) and recently selected by competition to be home to the Art Dèco World Congress in 2019, is pleased to invite professionals in architecture, engineering, design and photography, as well as amateurs interested in arts and heritage to submit entries to the 3rd Photo Competition of Art Deco and Modern Movement Heritage in Argentina and America. This event is sponsored by the Ministry of Culture of the City of Buenos Aires, the Legislature of the City of Buenos Aires, the National Commission for Monuments and Historic Sites, the national Secretary of Tourism, the Secretary of Culture of the city of Mendoza, the province of Mendoza Tourism Authority, the San Juan City Government, CCIFA

French-Argentine Commerce and Industry Chamber; San Telmo Antique Dealers and Friends Association, ACA Argentine Automobile Club, UP Palermo University Faculty of Design and Communication and Faculty of Architecture; SCA Central Society of Architects, DArA Associated Argentine Interior Designers, San Juan College of Architects, San Juan Society of Architects, Mendoza College of Architects.

This competition is possible thanks to the support of Habitat Magazine, D&D Design and Decoration in Argentina Magazine, Regina Australe, Safico Building.

1.Aim

The main aim of this competition is to highlight, rediscover and bring into focus Art Déco and Modern Movement architecture, interior design, art, ornamentation, monuments, furniture and objects that belong and remain unseen in Argentine and American cities; their details and importance in the making of built and tangible heritage.

The competition seeks to explore whatever remains of these two branches of twentieth-century avant-gardes, developed between the two World Wars. Both of them, one as a stylistic attitude and the other centered on design, had as main technological support reinforced concrete, and were often closely combined to compose designs and works of great richness and complexity. In Argentina we have been able to survey the coalescence of Art Déco elements in brick and adobe buildings. Thus, these cultural products ranging from decorative objects to bi-dimensional graphics and monuments and large pieces of infrastructure are identified with the international heritage of international modernity but also with regional identities inspired by academic and vernacular, artisan and industrial, and artistic and scientific influences.

2. Subject

This competition subject are all kinds of buildings, from banks and houses to wineries, vaults, urban equipment, squares, sites, and their details, lighting devices, sculpture, bas-reliefs, pieces of furniture, interiors and all that helps to build up the spirit of Art Deco and the Modern Movement in Argentina and America. In all cases the place, site or building where the photographs were taken shall be stated. By way of example, some of the most outstanding buildings or the period we long to photographically survey are: the Theatre House, Opera Movie Theatre. Kavanagh Building, Comega Building, Safico Building, Corrientes

Avenue-Buenos Aires Art Déco axis, ACA Argentine Automobile Club; Gran Rex Movie Theatre, Military Hospital, all in Buenos Aires; Minetti Building, Memorial to the Argentine Flag, Castagnino Museum (Rosario); Town Hall Comodoro Rivadavia (Chubut), Law Courts, Majestic Cinema (Tucumán); Azul Cemetery, Coronel Pringels Town Hall, Alberti Town Hall, Laprida main square, the house on the stream-Mar del Plata, Unione Theatre-Dolores (Province of Buenos Aires); Playas Serranas watering place (Mendoza); La Armonia Market (Santiago del Estero); Spanish Theatre (Posadas, Misiones); San Juan city cemetery; Ford Building (general Pico, La Pampa); 300 Agency, Gaiman (Chubut), all in Argentina. Heredia Theatre, cultural symbol of Cartagena de Indias, now Adolfo Mejías Theatre (Colombia); Edifice Aldred –Place d’Armes –Vieux- Montreal (Canada); Fausto Cinema in Prado and Colon Streets in the historical centre, and the America Theatre on Galiano Street, La Habana (Cuba); all buildings of Miami Art Déco District, from Collins Avenue to Ocean Drive –inscribed in the National Register of Historic Sites of Miami; Carbide and Carbon Buildings, Chicago; American Radiator Building, New York (USA); Diaz and Tapie Palaces, among other works, Montevideo (Uruguay); Christ Redeemer, Rio de Janeiro (Brasil); among many other lesser known works that the photographer may discover and unveil.

Beyond the better known examples, the jury will value the survey of simple, humble works that enrich urban or rural environment: houses, shop-fronts, cemetery vaults, apartment buildings, schools, banks, infrastructures such as grain silos, water tanks, dykes, slaughter houses, and urban equipment pieces such as lampposts, squares’ layouts, decorative flooring, water ponds, gazebos, sculpture, porches, bas-reliefs, detailing, objects and pieces of furniture.

For reference, let’s cite some examples of the best known buildings and sites of the period to be photographically registered: Casa del Teatro, Teatro Opera, Edificio Kavanagh, Edificio Omega, Automóvil Club Argentino, Cine Teatro Gran Rex (Buenos Aires); Edificio Minetti, Monumento a la Bandera, Museo Castagnino (Rosario), Palacio de Justicia (Tucumán); Cementerio de Azul, Municipalidad de Coronel Pringles, Plaza de Laprida (Pcia. de Buenos Aires); Casa del Puente (Mar del Plata); Balneario Playas Serranas (Mendoza), Mercado La Armonia, (Santiago del Estero), among other buildings and sites that the artists may themselves discover.

Registering simple works that enrich the rural or urban sphere will be valued, such as homes, shops, cemetery graves, apartment buildings, banks, schools, infrastructure such as barns, water tanks, dams, slaughterhouses, urban equipment works as streetlights, decorative floorings, fountains, pergolas, sculptures, porches and decorative details.
